Kakadu is a scientifically proven, all-natural botanical extract that supports wellness by helping your body maintain healthy stem cell physiology. It's the very first product on the market in the latest line of phytochemical products called "stem cell enhancers." Recent scientific developments show that stem cells derived from bone marrow, travel throughout the body and act to support optimal organ and tissue function. Stem cell enhancers support the natural role of adult stem cells to repair and rebuild the body. As you age, the number and quality of stem cells gradually decrease, leaving your body more susceptible to injury and other age-related issues. Just as antioxidants are important in protecting your cells from "free radical" damage, stem cell enhancers are equally important in supporting your stem cells in maintaining proper organ and tissue functioning in your body. When you take two capsules daily, the ingredients help to support the release of stem cells from the bone marrow into the bloodstream. Through a natural process, those stem cells then travel to areas of the body where they are needed most. Plus, StemTech offers a sports, circulation system, equine and dog supplement line.
